DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

2. Claims 1-37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by DeBells et al (DeBells), 6,044,388.

DeBells discloses both a method and apparatus for generating random bits by collecting and storing entropy data, (e.g. the time-dependent value of line 4 of claim 1) in a nonvolatile memory (e.g. registers 254 and 256 of Fig. 2, also note lines 10-19 of column 9) followed by updating the stored entropy data (when an updated secret value is generated an updated time-dependent value may be used, note lines 6-7 of claim 1 and claim 5) followed by using the entropy data to generate the random bits (note the last three lines of claim 1). Relative to hashing note the first line of the abstract.

3. Claims 11-18 and 24-31 are further rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Art Unit: 2124

Claim 11 is an apparatus claim which is dependent on a method claim. Claim 11 should be rewritten as an independent claim. Similarly note claims 18 and 24. The "wherein" phrase of lines 3-4 of claim 12 is the recitation of function without the recitation of the steps that are necessary to perform the function. Similarly note claim 25.

Conclusion

4. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
